

The Courier, Lincoln, Illinois

The Courier newspaper is a direct descendent of The Lincoln Herald. The name of the paper has changed many times since 1856 when The Lincoln Herald was first published. But, because of this continuation of publication the early issues of the paper survived. The Lincoln Herald was proud to be a Republican “mouth piece” during its early days. Since the Democratic papers of the time did not survive, issues of those papers did not survive. Reading the Lincoln Herald is like listening to one side of a conversation. It would be nice to be able to read both sides of the conversation.

The index presented here is an index of the births, marriages and deaths recorded in the pages of The Courier during 2011. An every name index of The Courier does exist but since the news is so recent, an entire index would not be helpful. The every name indexes for The Courier can be found on the research computer at LCG&HS. For genealogical researchers this information is much more sought after. This index will be updated annually.
