Pregnant woman gets 30 years for slaying

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CARMI — A pregnant Mount Carmel woman was sentenced to 30 years in prison for murdering a high school senior and hiding the body in a rented storage locker.

Stephanie Rush, convicted April 26 of murdering 18-year-old Dianna Musgrave, insisted on her innocence before Circuit Judge Thomas Sutton sentenced her Wednesday.

"I am truly sorry Dianna is dead, but it was not by my hand," Rush said.

Rush, 28, is expected to deliver her baby next month. She was married May 17 while in the county jail.

Sutton gave Rush 30 years for first-degree murder and four years for concealment of a homicide. The four-year term is to run concurrently with the longer sentence.

"It's better than nothing," said Donna Grisham, one of Musgrave's sisters. "At least she is going to pay."

Authorities said Musgrave was killed by a shot to the back of her head Jan. 29, 1995. Her body was found April 1, 1995, in a storage locker Rush rented.

Rush was the aunt of Musgrave's former boyfriend.

State's Attorney Chris Heid asked Sutton to sentence Rush to 55 years; defense attorney Henry Lewis requested the minimum 20 years.

Rush showed no emotion when the sentence was read. Sutton also ordered Rush to pay the $7,912 cost of Musgrave's funeral.

After the sentence, sheriff's deputies had to separate members of both families after an argument erupted.

Rush's husband, Steve Dougan, said he planned to raise her child until his wife got out of prison.

Heid said Rush could be released from prison after serving 14 years and nine months.

Corn-syrup settlement could be a sour deal for ADM, others

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PEORIA — CPC International's plan to settle a price-fixing lawsuit for $7 million could be "a big blow" to Archer Daniels Midland and other targets of the lawsuit, an antitrust expert says.

CPC announced the proposed deal Thursday. If the plan is approved by U.S. District Judge Michael M. Mihm, CPC would be the first of five companies to settle the massive lawsuit involving high-fructose corn syrup, the main sweetener in most soda pop.

ADM could face a tougher trial or higher settlement costs because of the settlement, especially if CPC agrees to cooperate with the plaintiffs, said University of Illinois law professor Steve Ross.

"Even if they're not going to cooperate with the plaintiffs it's a big blow because the plaintiffs now have a $7 million war chest to fight the lawsuit," said Ross, a former antitrust lawyer for the Justice Department. "But if this is the floor and everyone else would be able to settle for around $7 million, that's better news."

The Peoria case brought together more than a half-dozen lawsuits against corn syrup makers filed in the wake of a federal price-fixing probe. Decatur-based ADM, the main target of that probe, recently settled a similar price-fixing lawsuit involving the livestock feed supplement lysine for $25 million.

Audit says Million Man March organizers still owe $66,000

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — It cost slightly more than $2 million to put together the Million Man March last October and more than $66,000 in unpaid bills remain, organizers said Friday in releasing a long-awaited audit of the event.

The Rev. Benjamin Chavis, national director of the Million Man March, said the audit by a Chicago-based certified public accounting firm proves that the day of spirituality and atonement for black men was a success.

"The amount, $66,000, compared to the overall expense of over $2 million is a very, very small percentage," Chavis said in an interview after a news conference where the audit was reviewed.

"With over 95 percent of the bills paid, that is a remarkable success."

An audit was not required. But Chavis and Nation of Islam leader Louis Farrakhan, who called for a march, promised to make one public.

Bolling & Hill, a minority-owned certified public accounting firm in Chicago, where the Nation of Islam is based, did the audit, Chavis said.

Total expenses were approximately $2 million, including more than $581,000 spent on

"With over 95 percent of the bills paid, that is a remarkable success."

The Rev. Benjamin Chavis National director

Washington, cost more than $1.4 million.

Total revenues were roughly $1.9 million, drawn from various contributions and the sale of Million Man March paraphernalia. The figure also includes $245,687 donated by participants on the day of the march.

That leaves organizers with a debt of $66,283, which Chavis said was owed to various vendors, some of whom are awaiting final payment. Some vendors are owed, Chavis said, because they didn't bill until this year.

They also promised to donate about 10 percent of the sum collected on the National Mall, which amounts to about $25,000, to the District of Columbia. That hasn't been paid, but Chavis said the pledge would be fulfilled.

FACT:

- 100% of women experience menopause, however not all women develop problems.
- Women can lose up to 20% of their bone mass in the 5-7 years following menopause, making them more susceptible to osteoporosis.
- Women are at least 8 times more likely to die from heart disease than from breast cancer.

Protected until menopause, a woman's symptoms for heart disease do not surface until much later than those of a man. If you are a woman over forty, information essential to your health is available on menopause, heart disease and osteoporosis at the Women's Health Lecture.

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Barrows and gilts: are 1.00-1.50 lower; demand moderate to Illinois and Ohio farmers will be out around the clock, trying to catch up on planting before the weekend deadline. They also want to beat rain that could fall by Sunday — again saturating fields have been muddy all season.

The decrease also helped correct Tuesday's rally, which stemmed in part from respected analyst Conrad Leslie who predicted the corn harvest and soybean harvest would be lower than expected.

Corn futures prices were mixed. The July contract rose on pent-up buying from Tuesday's limit-up close and in anticipation of Friday's expiration. All other contracts fell on forecasts for 80- and 90-degree temperatures to sweep the Midwest over the next few days, drying up mushy ground and spurring crop development.

Wheat futures slipped in sympathy with corn and on the seasonal downtrend during harvest months of June and July. The market also fell on hot weather, which bodes well for harvesting in Kansas and growing in the Southern Plains.

Soybeans for July delivery slumped 4 cents to $7.87 a bushel; July corn gained 1/2 cents to $4.76 a bushel, while September corn fell 1 1/2 cents to $3.88 1/2 a bushel; July wheat fell 1/2 cents to $4.99 1/2 a bushel, and July oats fell 4 1/4 cents to $2.35 1/2 a bushel. Cattle futures were mostly higher and hog prices lower on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange.

Live June cattle fell .02 cent to 62.25 cents a pound, but the August contract rose .05 cent to 65.22 cents a pound. August feeder cattle rose .38 cent to 60.20 cents a pound. Live June hogs fell .77 cent to 58.70 cents a pound, and July frozen pork bellies fell 1.15 cents to 69.60 cents a pound.

Wall Street at noon

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks were higher at midday as a Federal Reserve report on the economy didn't sound any new alarms on inflation.

At noon on Wall Street, the Dow Jones industrial average was up 34.72 at 5,662.75, breaking out of the narrow, nervous range that has characterized this week and last.

Declining issues outnumbered advances by a slim margin on the New York Stock Exchange, where volume came to 166.49 million shares, down slightly from Wednesday's midday pace.

Broad-market indexes were higher too. The NYSE composite index was up 0.83 at 356.41, and the Standard & Poor's 500 list was up 2.38 at 664.44.

New law targets school enrollment

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SPRINGFIELD — A new state law is aimed at ending any free rides for parents who enroll their students in the wrong school district.

Gov. Jim Edgar earlier this week signed into law a measure that makes it a misdemeanor to knowingly enroll a child in a school district in which they are not authorized to attend. Those found guilty can face fines of up to $500 and up to 30 days in jail.

The move puts teeth into a law that allows a school district to charge tuition for students who don't live in the district, said Rep. James Durkin, R-Westchester.

The same misdemeanor penalty would apply for intentionally giving false information about residency to get a pupil enrolled in a school where he is ineligible without paying tuition, said Durkin, a co-sponsor.

For years, schools have been required to charge tuition to students who do not live in the district, but there was little penalty for violation, said Kim Knauer, Illinois State School Board spokeswoman.

Vandals break church windows

THE COURIER

Someone broke more than 30 stained glass and clear windows at First United Methodist Church, 302 Broadway, Lincoln police said today.

"It's really a mess," said Directing Pastor Gaylord Buss. The stained glass windows were in small, lead-lined frames of various sizes. The windows were in the second story on the back of the church facing the parking lot.

Police reports said the windows were probably broken by thrown rocks or B-B pellets.

First United Methodist Church was the victim of an act of vandalism earlier this year, when two stained glass windows in the chapel were broken.

"We're pretty concerned about it," said Buss. "It could be kids' pranks. Who knows what's going on? I don't have any idea."

Damage in the latest incident is estimated at $1,000.

Assistant prosecutor to leave office

THE COURIER

Logan County assistant state's attorney Kirk Schoenbein will be leaving office next Friday to lead the Champaign County Public Defender's Office.

Schoenbein, who joined the office staff here in November 1994, has been involved in the Jon Morgan double-homicide case and has been successful in fighting attempts to suppress the juvenile's confessions.

He also played a role in the drawn-out attempted murder trial of Dieter Czerwinski.

Czerwinski, better known for his attempted jump from the third-floor railing of the courthouse, was recently found guilty but mentally ill.

Other highlights in Schoenbein's tenure here included drug trafficking convictions with lengthy sentences against Lawrence Weatherly and Dwight Reed.

And Schoenbein was a key figure in the state's attorney's office filing felony charges against drivers who repeatedly drive drunk or without a license.

State's Attorney Tim Huyett said Schoenbein's legal knowledge and energy have been one of the strengths of his own term in office.

"It's been a unique and distinct pleasure to work with Kirk over this period of time," Huyett said.

"The energy and motivation he's brought to this office has only enhanced the county. I'm proud to call him my friend and sad to see him go."

Trial into murder of boy, 10, continues after mistrial denied

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

JOLIET — Defense attorneys who failed to win a mistrial tried to poke holes in the case against Timothy Buss, charged with murder in the death of 10-year-old Christopher Meyer.

A Will County judge on Monday rejected a motion for a mistrial after defense attorneys contended jurors may have been emotionally influenced when Christopher's mother, Mika Moulton, fled the courtroom last Friday. She left, screaming after hearing graphic testimony about how her son was stabbed more than 40 times and sexually mutilated.

The testimony also left several jurors shaking their heads and wiping away tears.

Christopher disappeared near the Kankakee River at Aroma Park on Aug. 7, 1995. His body was found in the park Aug. 15.

At the time of the killing, Buss, 28, was on parole after serving about half of a 25-year sentence for killing a 5-year-old Bradley girl in 1981, when he was 13.

In court Monday, Buss' attorneys questioned a witness who said he had seen a man in Kankakee River State Park after Christopher disappeared. But the witness could not say for sure if Buss was the right man when asked to pick him out of a lineup.

Alice Buss, the defendant's grandmother, testified that on Aug. 8, her grandson came to her Kankakee home to visit at about 6 p.m. and stayed until after 10 p.m. She said they watched a TV movie that started at 8 p.m., and Buss did not leave until after it ended.

"He was on my couch, and I was in the rocking chair beside him," she said. "He did not leave. It was a good movie."

The grandmother's statements contradicted prosecution testimony last week by Bobby Francher of Kankakee.

Ms. Francher said she saw Buss' car twice coming out of a dirt road leading to the park.

CDC targets new berry for outbreak

ATLANTA — Investigators searching for the source of a parasite that has sickened at least 300 people in a dozen states and Canada are now targeting raspberries.

The berry, alone or mixed with other fresh fruit, may be to blame for cyclospora, a parasite that causes diarrhea, stomach cramps, nausea and vomiting, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said Thursday.

But experts warned shoppers not to panic.

"It may be raspberries, it may be strawberries, it could be blueberries, it could be in the water," said Mary Pendergast, deputy commissioner for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. "We just don't know that yet. This is the beginning of our investigation."

The CDC advised fruit lovers to wash all berries before eating them.

Health officials have identified 78 cases of the illness in Texas, 71 in Florida, 43 in New York, 32 in New Jersey, 28 each in Massachusetts and Ohio, 11 in Illinois, 10 in South Carolina and eight in Pennsylvania.

Initial evidence pointed to strawberries, then raspberries and raspberries mixed with other berries and fresh fruit, said Dr. Barbara Herwaldt of the CDC's National Center for Infectious Diseases.

No deaths have been reported from the parasite, which can be treated with antibiotics.

Peoria man allegedly confessed to running down ex-girlfriend

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PEKIN — A Peoria man said "something came over" him as he decided to run down and kill his ex-girlfriend as she walked along the side of a road in East Peoria, police said.

Raymond L. Tillman was arraigned Thursday on five counts of first-degree murder in the death Sunday of Christine T. Saathoff, 46. Tillman was being held in the Tazewell County Jail on $250,000 bond.

Police reports filed in court indicate that Tillman cried as he described how he ran down Saathoff.
